

AS THE WIND WHISTLED

the rain sprinkled the rain tapped against the sand... and then the wind whooshed... and then there was lightning
the lightning crashed the wind whistled violently... then it slowed down again... then the rain stopped the air smelled like parsley the sand was soaked and the sun awoke leaving the sky a blue tint... then it was day there were puddles of water in the sand... and then.. the sky was grey once again.
